

The main purpose of these ashes is to bring all scouts the international aspect and world fellowship of Scouting.

Since ancient times flames have held a special meaning to mankind, the Olympic Torch, and spirit candles are cases in point. With campfires, when the warm flame is gone, we have only ashes left and memories of time spent together. These ashes are gathered and sprinkled into the next flame, thus keeping alive the spirit of all the campfires that have gone before. It is as if the warm fellowship goes with us from camp to camp until it circles the globe and spans the years.

[Ashes taken from a previous campfire are sprinkled into the flames of the current campfire. The next morning, when the ashes are cold, each scout/scouter takes some along to carry and mix into the next campfire they attend. The scout/scouter keeps a personal list of each campfire, the place and date and adds the next campfire information to the list. If more than one scout/scouter brings ashes, the lists are later pooled with the names and dates of all the campfires' ashes recorded. On my list, if there is an * it denotes that a flag from the USA was retired and the ashes were not stirred nor disturbed in the taking. Ashes that duplicated my "own" ashes (campfires from the past that rejoined) are denoted with a +, those that duplicated mine at a 1992 Our Cabana, Cuernavaca, Mexico campfire are designated by (+) So even on this list, you can see how our lives through the ashes, meet again. In this year of 2007, I have 31 years with the BSA, and 36 with the GSA.]

It is tradition that only those in attendance carry away ashes from the campfire.

We carry our friendship with these ashes from other campfires, and with Scouters in other lands. May the joining of the ashes of the dead fires with the leaping flames of the new, symbolize once more the unbroken chain that binds Scouts/Scouters/Guides.

These ashes were originally carried by American scouts around the world and are now also are carried by scouts from many countries.

Yours in Scouting, Jean Dumford, Ph.D. Scouterlady@earthlink.net
